

To truly understand Robert's approach to ABA/VB, read any of his books available in several languages, including German and English:

© Von Photographee.eu – Adobe Stock

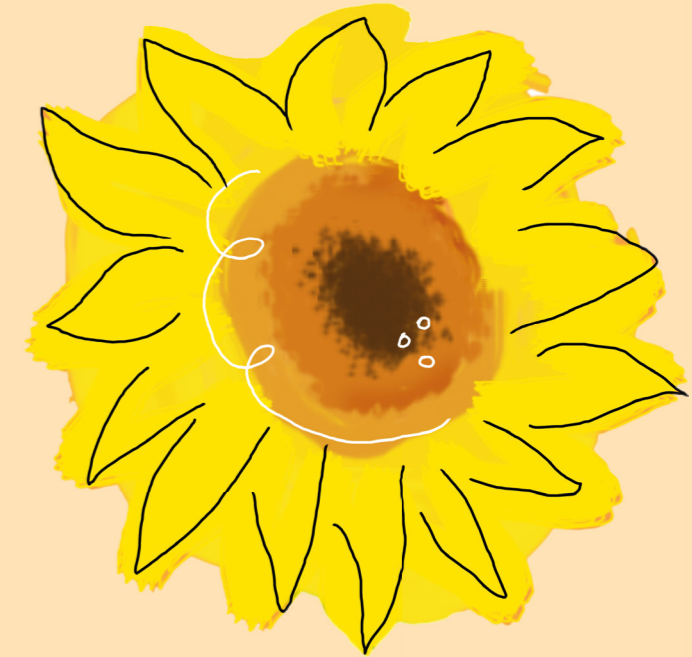

With almost 20 years experience working with cost reimbursement sources in Germany, we are proud to say that well over 80% of our clients are getting cost coverage through their local government agency. Please contact us by phone or email to find our more about our services, current prices and the process of petitioning for cost coverage.

„Helping parents help their children!“

The Knospe-ABA team has been responsible for the behavioral education of more than 2,000 children in Germany and its surrounding countries. With over 25 years of experience, our lead supervisor Robert Schramm, M.A.,

BCBA, is bringing all of his knowledge into his work to support Knospe-ABA's clients in the best possible way. It is our mission to teach with great empathy parents of children with autism and related disorders, what they need to know to give their child the best opportunity at a happy and successful life. We are coming to your home to develop an individualised program for your child and teaching you how to implement it. We focus on the individual needs of each child and all program recommendations, learning goals and behavioral interventions are responsible to the highest ethical standards. In addition to family geared webinars and workshops, Knospe-ABA also offers in-house workshops, trainings and supervision to schools, autism centers and other institutions interested in learning more about Applied Behavior Analysis and Verbal Behavior.

Welcome to Knospe-ABA

Helping parents help their children!

since 2004

www.knospe-aba.com

info@knospe-aba.com

fon: +49.5722.9095599

fax: +49.5722.9093666

What does Knospe-ABA do?

We work to improve the quality of life for children with autism spectrum and related disorders. We support their development and help them overcome their daily challenges. We help parents and teachers better understand why a child is behaving the way they are, so that they can teach the child more effectively. To do this, we help parents and teachers to behave in ways that are easier for the child with autism to understand and benefit from.

“We teach the science of Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA) and Verbal Behavior (VB) to parents, teachers, therapists, psychologists and other professionals who want to give children with autism the best possible environment in which to live and learn.”

What is ABA?

Education in Applied Behavior Analysis offers a way to help understand human behavior. When ABA is focused on autism intervention, our first goal is always to try to understand the child and their needs, and then to teach all the child’s caregivers how to help them get their needs met in more successful and independent ways. Our programs are individualized to help each child in our care maximize their potential and live a happier and more successful life. We don’t believe autism to be a disease that needs to be cured but rather a description of development and behavior that can, in some cases, cause individuals to face challenges in communication, behavior and social interaction. It is these challenges we try to help children and their families overcome.

© Von Mediteraneo – Adobe Stock

What is Verbal Behavior?

Verbal Behavior is the part of behavior that deals with communication.

ABA programs that prioritize the research related to VB are much more highly reliant on the child’s motivation to learn, unless we know why the child would WANT to learn the skill. VB focuses on understanding a child’s motivation so that the teacher/parent can set up a teaching setting in which the child becomes a happy, active participant in learning. We call this “Motivated Learning.” Practically, this means that all learning is designed to be fun and interesting and how can we set up our teaching to become a worthwhile part of that fun. When an ABA/VB program is up and running as it is designed, children will often choose to pick up their teaching materials and run to their teacher/parents requesting more time learning and having fun with them.

How do we help?

When you contact Knospe-ABA for services, we will offer you an opportunity to attend an introductory workshop that teaches you the basic “what,” “how,” and “why” of ABA/VB. This workshop is available as a webinar as well, which allows you to attend comfortably from your home. You can choose to schedule an initial consultation, where we come into your home and begin the process of identifying the best individualized teaching program for your child. This includes the process of teaching you how to implement those program recommendations on a daily basis within your regular interactions with your child. We can follow that with maintenance consultations, where we check the progress of your child and your teaching skill as well as change the program to help you move forward. At some point, we will work with you to be able to spend part of our consultations in the kindergarten, school, and other important community environments, so that we can help all of your child’s teachers and therapists maximize their work with your child. Additionally, between visits you can contact us at your discretion for email, phone and online-consultations that will help you stay on track with your teaching, answer any questions, or address any expected issues that come up along the way.

